FOLSOM PRISON BREAK TRY FOILED

EARNINGS OF P. G. E. HELD EXCESSIVE

Both sides finished presentation of evidence in the hearing of an application of the Pacific Gas and Electric company for permission to raise gas rates for consumers in the bay regions, in San Francisco yesterday.

The P. G. & E. has asked for a rate change after Aug. 1, when the natural gas will be piped to the bay cities and will be mixed with the manufactured gas.

Officials and experts of the company testified that under the new rates when the mixed gas is used all consumers except those purchasing less than $2 worth of gas a month would enjoy a reduction in rates each month.

Opinions Differ

Claude O. Brown, member of the State Railroad commission, differed with the company in many points and presented the results of his own investigation. Brown's report tended to show that under the proposed rates the company would earn far in excess of a fair return during the first year of the new schedule.

Brown declared that even if the new gas would have a heating power of 21 percent stronger than the gas now used, the company could keep the present rates in effect after Aug. 1 and receive a return of 7.4 percent on its investment. The commission has held that seven percent is a fair return for a utility such as the Pacific Gas and Electric company.

Excess Earnings

If the company's application is granted, Brown declared, the company would realize a return of 8.3 percent on their investment.

Brown declared that under the present schedule the company is realizing a return of 9.7 percent on its investment.

Brown will be cross examined today by representatives of cities affected by the proposed new rates.

Carlson Present

Among the city attorneys present were those of Oakland, San Jose, Palo Alto, Mountain View, Daly City and Thomas Carlson of Richmond.

B. B. Beckett, rate engineer for the company, told the commission yesterday that the new schedule was not to give the company more or less revenue "but to get a more equitable rate structure between large and small consumers."

"All consumers using more than 1500 or 2000 cubic feet of gas a month will find that the new rates bring them a deduction in bills," Beckett stated.

Four Hurt In Car Accident

MARTINEZ, May 23.—Four members of the family of City Clerk J. E. McElheney of Antioch were injured when the car in which they were riding was sideswiped by another machine and was overturned.

Their automobile was sideswiped by a machine driven by Charles L. Wright of San Francisco who told authorities that brakes of his car refused to work.

He took the injured trio to Dr. L. B. Wetherbee of this city for treatment. All suffered from bruises and lacerations.

BOYS GUILTY OF SLAYING PAL 8

PAINTSVILLE, Ky., May 23.—UP—A childish argument over a piece of old scrap iron which resulted in the fatal shooting of a boy companion, brought a sentence of 15 years in the state reformatory today for six-year-old Carl Mahan.

A jury in juvenile court found Carl guilty of manslaughter in the slaying of Cecil Van Hoose, 8. The boys had been chums until a first fight resulted Saturday over the ownership of the old iron.

"I'll get dad's gun and blow your head off," a witness testified that Carl exclaimed after the fist encounter.

The little boy then ran into the house and returned with a shotgun. He succeeded in raising the barrel of the gun and firing a charge at Cecil. Seven pellets were found in the boy's body.

MONOPLANE FORT WORTH IN AIR MORE THAN 100 HOURS

FORT WORTH, Tex., May 23.—(U.P.)—The Ryan monoplane Fort Worth, soared into the home stretch on its gallant endurance flight tonight, with all but two records for sustained flight behind it.

Piloted by Roy Robbins, former railroad mechanic, and James Kelly, former cowboy, the ship passed the 100 hour mark at 8:33 p. m. today and soared on over Meacham field, in its attempt to shatter the existing flight record of over 150 hours set by the Army plane "Question Mark" in California last January.

Besides the Question Mark's record, only one goal remained before the fliers—the 112 hour flight of the Graf Zeppelin between Germany and America last year.

As on other nights, the Fort Worth swooped low over Meacham (Continued on Page 5)

Three days ago Mrs. Costello called police and informed them that her black and white calf had strayed from home. A police search started.

Yesterday Mrs. Costello heard a familiar "moo" and went to the barn where she found the missing calf safe but hungry.

As a result of the animal's travel complex Mr. Costello has secured a stout rope to tether the wayward beast.

The supposition by his physician, Dr. E. A. Kilgore, that he might be visiting with friends was dispelled with the finding of his abandoned automobile.

MARTINEZ, May 23.—After hearing a number of charges against W. T. Van Vorst, principal of the Alhambra high school, by G. L. Thornburg, music instructor, the high school board of trustees last night tendered Van Vorst a vote of confidence.

Thornburg charged that Van Vorst was unfair in grading teachers, that he was dictatorial and that he was "wrecking the musical department."

Thornburg's charges and the principal's answers were heard at the board at a meeting that was marked by a hearing at its close with the music teacher declaring that he "got what he wanted" from the board.

Thornburg then tendered his resignation, with the proviso that his contract, which has a full month to run, should be paid in full. The board refused to accept the resignation and issued the order for all concerned to go back to work.

TANKO PAL TAKEN BY GUARDS

FOLSOM PRISON, May 23.—UP—Two prisoners serving life sentences here failed in a bold attempt to escape late today.

A henchman of Joe Tanko, one of California's most notorious criminals led the attempt to gain freedom. He was Theodore "Creepy" Wilson, serving a life sentence as convicted "petting party" bandit from San Francisco and he encouraged Frank Miller, 20, slayer of an Arcadia policeman to accompany him.

Together the pair aided by other convicts, entered an abandoned sewage drain pipe of the prison and began the laborious task of creeping through it.

Meanwhile a report of the venture reached prison authorities and a check of prisoners was hastily made. During this a convict informed the officials of the entire plot.

When Wilson and Miller emerged from the pipe in an orchard outside prison walls, they were met by a dozen armed guards.

"Just a tough break," Wilson said, as he was led with Miller to solitary confinement tonight. The two men had been working on a new prison building, which made their plan of escape possible.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—UP—The Republican House majority decided in caucus today that the tariff bill will be voted upon by the lower house next Thursday, with amendments limited to 91 proposed today by the ways and means committee in an effort to stem the tide of criticism against the measure.

The decision was reached by a 206 to 21 vote on the caucus. J. friend of President Hoover for a less stringent schedule of sugar rates was defeated.

TAX COLLECTIONS

Income and miscellaneous tax collections of the Treasury department at Washington for the first nine months of the fiscal year, which ends on July 1, totaled more than $2,137,000,000 which was an increase of more than sixty million dollars as compared with the same period a year ago. On this basis the department now estimates that the surplus of the budget at the end of the fiscal year will be around a hundred million dollars.

In spite of the fact that the tax rate on corporation earnings was reduced in the last tax bill, the increase in taxes from corporations in the March settlement was around seventeen million dollars. This was undoubtedly to the greater prosperity of the country and proves the contention of Secretary Mellon to the effect that lower tax rates mean more business greater prosperity and greater collections.

The most striking feature in connection with the miscellaneous tax collections for the nine months was the increase in 1929 of the taxes on cigarettes. Total collections were $247,096,852.40 in 1929 as against $223,467,891.55 in 1928, a gain of $23,628,960.85. The number of cigarettes produced upon which taxes were levied continued to increase and in March this year totaled 8,689,510,413, as against 8,470,466,373 in the same month of 1928. Taxes on pipes and chewing tobacco returned $1,679,049 less revenue for the nine months.

There is much to be learned from a study of reports which the Treasury Department issues on tax collections. We are able to get a line on the business conditions of the country as in no other way. Surely the report recently issued indicates that there is no cessation in the general commercial prosperity of the country.

DAVIS FOR MANILA

President Hoover could look farther and find less of a man for governor-general of the Philippines than Dwight W. Davis, St. Louis, former secretary of war.

The post which the executive is seeking to fill with a man who will shower credit upon the administration as well as benefit for the Filipinos is one of the most important in the executive department. It pays more than any other position in the government except the presidency itself, but this, in America, is no criterion of its importance. Where that job bears most heavily upon the American welfare, is in the growing ambition of the Filipino to cast off his leading strings and in the firm conviction of all sensible Americans that it is too early in the development of the island race for solo flights.

Mr. Davis, should he accept the offer, will occupy an office that has been graced by several men of exceedingly great ability. Taft and Wood are outstanding in their able handling of a difficult but not overmasteringly hard job. Davis will carry to Manila the advantage of having had contact with the problem through the war department, which administers the islands through its bureau of insular affairs.

It is perhaps significant for the future of this nation, that this bureau has been included in the military, rather than the naval department. Some other islands of less economic importance—in fact of such little economic value that their strategic value is their all—are governed by officers of the navy.

Some of the late court house stories are wide enough, but except for their verbiage, not broader than some to be perused in the contemporary issues of the naked lady magazines.

A lot of women used to wear their hearts on their sleeves but not any more. They haven't the sleeves.

If the federal reserve board keeps up its policy it won't be long until we will be burying our pocket-book in the cellar every time the board meets.

FILIPINO RACE PROBLEM ON COAST

LOS ANGELES, May 23.—A serious inter-racial problem is facing the Pacific coast because of the fact that most of the Filipinos entering this country are men, Dr. Emory S. Bogardus, chairman of the sociology department at University of Southern California writes in the current issue of sociology and social research.

Dr. Bogardus' article points out that there are practically no young Filipino women in this country and that the Filipino men are without social connections among people of their own race. The inter-marriage situation is unique, he says, "In several states of the union, including Arizona, California, Idaho, Nevada and Oregon Filipinos may not marry whites. Classified as Mongolians, they come under the marriage laws prohibiting inter-marriage of Mongolians and Caucasians. Although Malayan, or partly Spanish he is not Mongolian but may be classified as such. He is in a peculiar position—not an alien, neither is he a citizen, neither can he become a citizen."

CLUB MENDELSSOHN ENDS YEAR'S WORK WITH HI-JINX LUNCHEON MEETING HERE

Club Mendelssohn had as features of its closing session yesterday a delicious luncheon and an afternoon of delightful entertainment in form of a Hi-Jinx Great merriement was derived from a burlesque of the recent Club Mendelssohn operetta, "Bells of Melodrama."

Those taking part in the merry stunt were Mrs. Lura Kent, Mrs. Leona Calfer, Mrs. Myrtle Harlow, Mrs. Virginia Bryant, Mrs. Louise Humrill, Mrs. Della McVittie, Mr. Flora Horner, Mrs. Belle Kratzer, Mrs. Anita Wilson, Mrs. Virginia Bumgarner, Mrs. Marion Downey, Mrs. Florence Eaton and Mrs. Emma Topping. Accompanist for the afternoon was Mrs. Hazel Reed.

The beautifully appointed luncheon, served by women of the St. Edmund's guild, was in charge of Mrs. James McVittie. An interesting feature of the luncheon was the charming idea expressed in the table decoration. A Path of Progress of the club since its founding 25 years ago, was expressed by a series of arches running the whole length of the table. The arches which were graduated in size, represented each year of the club's career from 1904 to 1929. They stood over a small cobblestone path in which certain stones were labeled with the outstanding events of each year. Suspended from each arch was a silver bell bearing the year and the name of the year's president. After the largest arch, which represented the term of Mrs. F. C. Shallenberger, outgoing president, the path ended in a closed arch enclosing a question mark. The question mark denoted the future, and particularly the term of Mrs. C. O. Bryant, incoming president.

Concluding the luncheon Mrs. Shallenberger was presented with a bouquet of flowers from her officers and from the club. She also presented gifts to her officers and honored several of her chairmen by presenting them with beautiful baskets of flowers.

Among the chairmen honored were Mrs. James McVittie, chairman of general arrangements for the Hi-Jinx; Mrs. J. H. Humrill, program chairman for the Jinx; Mrs. Virginia Bumgarner, chairman of guest day; Mrs. W. E. Cunningham, program chairman for guest day; and Mrs. George Clarke, chairman of general arrangements for the operetta.

Officers included Mrs. C. E. Gribble, recording secretary; Mrs. E. George Harlow, corresponding secretary; Mrs. T. S. Calfee, parliamentarian; Miss Jessie Lambrecht, hostess and Miss Bernice Clarke, press correspondent.

At a business session preceding the Jinx, reports of officers were heard and business of the year concluded.

High scores in bridge went to Mrs. Clifford Jones and Mrs. Clifford Fallow. Late in the evening the guests enjoyed a delicious supper.

Mrs. Fallow will entertain the club on June 21.

CLARA BOW IN WILD PARTY MAKES HIT AT CALIFORNIA

Clara Bow In "Wild Party"

CLARA BOW, the "It" girl, who is appearing in the all-talking picture, "The Wild Party," at the Fox-California theater.

Those movie-goers who have a way thought that Clara Bow has the monopoly on that vague but real, elusive, but stable thing—sex—were given a chance to reinforce their convictions last night, but they were forced to admit that even if Clara has the monopoly there are a number of near-monopolizers in the offing. For Paramount has packed two "It" girls into "The Wild Party" than ever were called to the support of a single star before. There are twelve of these "starlets" in the cast with Clara Bow. The picture opened at the Fox-California theater last night.

One of their number plays the role of a "housewife" and all the others have their own parts. They were given a chance to reinforce their convictions last night, but they were forced to admit that even if Clara has the monopoly there are a number of near-monopolizers in the offing. For Paramount has packed two "It" girls into "The Wild Party" than ever were called to the support of a single star before. There are twelve of these "starlets" in the cast with Clara Bow. The picture opened at the Fox-California theater last night.

Clara has an opportunity in this film to demonstrate her prowess as a speaking actress and she makes every line effective. It is an agreeable surprise for the army of film fans who have hitherto seen but not heard their idol. The story of "The Wild Party" from the pen of Warner Pabst, author of "The Wild Party" is a tale of a girl who falls in love with one of her teachers a young man who returns her love in spite of her capricious attitude at wild parties. Underlying the spirit of unfettered youth, however, is the steadfast loyalty of the girl for her chum and roommate, and when the critical test of that loyalty comes, Clara tells a lie to save her girl-friend from disgrace. The climax forces Clara to leave college, but the professor, the man she loves, decides that he now will forsake the academic existence for the prosaic life in the busy workaday world.

Trip To Canada Called Off For Baseball Game

A game of baseball saved the parents of a Richmond boy hours of worry and the Richmond police a lot of work yesterday.

Returning home from school yesterday Eugene Hunt, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Hunt decided that spring had come and it was high time that he hid himself out into the great open spaces.

He scribbled a note, telling his parents that he was on his way to Canada. Laying the message upon the table, he journeyed on.

His trip took him five blocks from home. A group of school friends were in a vacant lot playing baseball. They needed an outfielder. With little persuasion, Hunt picked up a mitt and went to the outfield. In 10 minutes he had forgotten his northern trip and was engrossed in the game.

Darkness came and the game was called. Holding a post mortem over the game, young Hunt forgot that he was bound for Canada and returned home for dinner.

The relieved parents notified police that their boy had returned and the police hunt was called off.

NOAH'S ARK

CHAPTER II

For a while the five occupants of the compartment rode along in silence, swaying back and forth as the train sped squeaking and grinding through the night. Finally Emil leaned over and opened the satchel beside him. His actions had aroused the attention of his two companions and they watched him in silence. But neither the girl nor the priest so much as turned their heads. From the bag he took a bottle of wine and three glasses. He placed the glasses on the seat beside him, poured off the top of the bottle into one, and filled the other two. He looked at the wine, then leaned forward as though he hoped the movement might attract the attention of the girl.

The figure next to the window did not stir, even though the girl could undoubtedly feel three pairs of eyes watching anxiously for some sign on her part. From her vantage point beside the glass, however, she could watch not only the three men, but the people near the compartment door. She saw the door swing open and a hand reach around and surreptitiously remove one of the filled cups.

Further than the hand and a masculine coat sleeve the girl could not see. She could not glimpse the short, thin young man with the thin face that always held a look of startled innocence, hand the glass to his companion, a tall, well built fellow with a bronzed complexion. The tall man, who looked as though he might be a civil engineer or a member of some profession that demanded an ability to handle men and outdoor work, took the glass from his companion with some hesitancy.

"Is all right, boss," the smaller of the two grinned from ear to ear, misinterpreting his friend's reluctance to attend to the glass. "There's another one in there—I'm going to get it."

Forthwith, he once more stretched out his arm and the second glass disappeared from the German's side.

"Look here, Al, you oughtn't to do that." The tall man shook his head disapprovingly, but there was a gleam of laughter in his eyes. "Aw, what th' hell! Prosit!" Al raised his glass and touched that of his companion. "Gosh, I've got the three that hogged all the seats. Gosh, I'll be glad when we get back to America where I can ask for a seat myself and someone'll know what I'm talking about." He drained his glass. "All I can understand around these parts is 'Wee, wee' and 'Yah, yah,' and every time I say them I get something I don't want."

"Well, it won't be long now," the big man announced philosophically, downing the wine. "I must say the good old U. S. A. looks pretty much all right to me. We'll have a few days in Paris, and then—us for the best!"

The western drawl sounded as strange to the people about the two as the babel of Continental tongues sounded to them, and several in the corridor turned their heads to glance at the Americans.

At that moment the train swerved round a curve. Al, thinking he saw an opportunity to return his empty glass and substitute it for one more desirable, stretched out his arm a third time. However, during the man's curve, he did glimpse the vacant places and beckoned to his friend.

"Say, Jim, look! There's some seats in there. Let's get 'em." He pulled the big man by the arm. "There's some other people in there. We might as well sit as stand."

ABIE'S IRISH ROSE

CHARLES "BUDDY" ROGERS and NANCY CARROLL

The heart of Anne Nichols' "Abie's Irish Rose" now showing at the Fox-Richmond theater, is a conversation between a Catholic priest and a Jewish rabbi, according to Victor Fleming, who directed the Paramount filmization of the stage play.

The two are talking of their adventures in France during the war. "We didn't have much time to think of any one religion, any one nationality," the rabbi declares. "Sure, they all had the same God above them. They're all the same, what with all the shells bursting and the shrapnel flying."

hysterical condition and suffered from shock scratches and bruises. Johnson was riddled with bullet wounds from copper wire bindings about his ankles and wrists to go to the aid of Miss Huller who had been dragged from the automobile into brush near the highway.

The assailant carried the girl back to the car and tossed her along side of Johnson, who was semi-conscious. He then opened the gasoline tank, and set fire to it, leaving his bound victims in hopes they would perish in the flames.

Man Frees Self. Johnson freed himself, he said, and staggered from the machine while the bandit fired several more shots at him without effect.

A passing motorist brought Johnson to police headquarters where he reported that the girl had been burned to death, but meanwhile she also escaped and reached a house several blocks away.

When police arrived on the scene they found the automobile and surrounding brush on fire. They failed to find any trace of the bandit.

The pair had gone for an automobile ride in a new car which Johnson had purchased when they were surprised by the bandit who cowed them with a gun.

The assailant took a small sum of money, a diamond ring and watch from them.

PRESS EXPOSE IN SENATE PROBED

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(U.P.)—Repeated efforts were made in a spirited session of the Senate today both to broaden and to overthrow the proposed investigation by the Rules Committee into newspaper revelations of the secret session in the Lenroot case.

No action was taken on any of the proposals, which were:

A point of order raised by Senator Norris, Rep., Neb., that the rules committee, which has summoned Paul R. Mallon, head of the senate staff of the United Press before it next Monday has no authority to investigate his publication of the roll call in the Lenroot case, but must ask the senate for authority.

A proposal by Senator Harrison, Dem., Miss., that the rules committee, in its investigation, summon every one of the 95 senators and ask each one if he revealed the information which was the basis of Mallon's dispatch.

A proposal by Senator LaFollette, Rep., Wis., that besides senators the committee summon senate officials and other newspaper men who had written dispatches revealing senate proceedings in the Lenroot case, even though they did not, like Mallon, print a roll call.

Proposals from several sources that the investigative committee session be open.

Earlier in the day, LaFollette introduced a resolution amending senate rules which would restore to the four press associations floor privileges for one of their representatives, which were withdrawn yesterday by ruling of Vice-President Curtis.

field at 11:33 p. m. having successfully passed four and a half days, 108 hours in the air.

Today's refuelings brought the total to 10, with the next scheduled for early Friday morning. The last note dropped by the fliers said:

"Motor and ship are in good shape. We are a little tired, but don't let it bother us."

Experienced airmen at Meacham field were confident the Army plane's record would be beaten by the Fort Worth, which before it's take-off last Sunday had flown a distance equal to two trips around the earth.

Ed Walsh, motor expert of the Wright Aeronautical corporation, declared the motor should run on indefinitely so long as the rocker arms are properly greased. It was failure of lubrication of the rocker arms of the Question Mark which caused the big army ship to abandon its flight.

FIREMEN LOSE TO BOILER SHOP 9

The Richmond Firemen ball team, yesterday afternoon, made a valiant attempt to beat the Boiler Shop team of the Standard Oil company in the Richmond Commercial Twilight league. But when the last of the eighth inning rolled around, the Firemen were on the wrong end of a 10 to 9 score.

In the fifth inning the Boiler Shoppers were leading by a score of eight to two. At this stage of the game the Firemen made a rally that scored six men and sent Red Newell, pitcher for the Oilers, to the showers.

Both teams scored in the ninth inning, making the count nine to nine. As a result an extra inning had to be played.

In the first of the eighth the Firemen were unable to cross the plate and at the end of the inning drew a high two out of the Oilers.

With two men on bases and two men out, Lavenue, Firemen catcher, checked a long one down to second base in an effort to stop the theft of second base. The throw was good only it didn't go where Lavenue expected it to. As a result he was chalked up with an error and a Standard Oil man scored from third.

It was a great game, with errors plentiful as green apples in the spring. Both teams made at least eight errors that went into the book.

Linescore:

Standard Oil	10	9	8
Firemen	9	8	10

Batteries: Newell, Carson and Moltoza; Hathaway and Lavenue.

The entire lineup is as follows: G. Banducci, second; B. Banducci, first; R. Banducci, short stop; L. Banducci, third; A. Glover, catcher; F. Williams, center; O. Wakefield, right; J. Young, pitcher and K. Young, left field.

Jensen Fails To Set Record

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., May 23.—UP.—The second attempt of the week by Martin Jensen, and two companions to establish a new endurance flight record ended unsuccessfully tonight.

As on Tuesday, their Bellanca monoplane, "Three Musketeers," was forced to descend because of rents in the fabric of the fuselage, caused by the "catapult" refueling device the fliers were testing. The crew had been in the air for 23 1/2 hours.

The fliers said that after repairing the torn fabric they would make another attempt to break the record, starting possibly Friday.

Over Net, Plate

Few people know that George Lott, nationally known tennis star, is somewhat of a baseball luminary in collegiate circles. George's tennis activities have overshadowed his baseball career so far but the latter is rapidly gaining headway.

Lott ranks well up among the first ten in the tennis world. He was a member of last year's Davis Cup team that represented the United States in Europe and he was only recently selected for the international matches to be played with Canada this week-end. But George refused to leave his books and baseball practice. Besides being captain of the University of Chicago's tennis team, he is the ace of the pitching staff and one of the leading hitters of the Western Conference.

High Net Men Play Piedmont Squad Saturday

Pete Meyers Gets Unpopular Draw

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, N. Y., May 23.—UP.—Pete Meyers of San Francisco 156 1-2 and Tony Vaccarelli of New York 150 1-4, fought a ten round draw here tonight.

The decision was exceedingly unpopular and the crowd boomed for several minutes. Both fighters put up a great battle, punching away toe to toe much of the time. Vaccarelli was more aggressive than Meyers and in the opinion of the crowd should have received the decision. His punches appeared to be cleaner than those of Meyers.

Bigger, Better

Dale Alexander is proving that he is more than merely the biggest first baseman in the majors. The six-foot, three-inch Tiger, weighing 215 pounds, struck the majority of the spring training critics as being too big and clumsy to stick notwithstanding that he hits line drives to the distant fences.

But the big fellow has proved that he can go after a grounder without cracking up and he has won out in a tri-cornered struggle for the Detroit first base job.

Oaks Lose To Reds In 7 Hit Game

SAN FRANCISCO, May 23.—(U.P.)—Three hits were all the San Francisco Missions needed today to forge ten full games ahead of the San Francisco Seals and Oakland, which are tied for third place.

In fact two hits would have been enough for it was two doubles alone that were responsible for the Missions' 2 to 0 victory over Oakland. Each double scored a run while Oakland, with four hits, was shut out. Nelson hurled for the victors and Daglia for Oakland.

The second place Los Angeles Angels remained seven games behind the Missions by beating Portland 11 to 4. Each team made eleven hits, but the Angels scored five times in the first two innings and took it easy after that.

The last place Seattle Indians scored their second victory of the week over the Seals, 10 to 6 and Hollywood made it three straight over Sacramento by a count of 6 to 5.

The Seals held a lead until Seattle made five runs in the fifth and sixth innings. The Stars moved up until they were only one game behind the Seals and Oakland by making three runs in the eighth inning, overcoming a two run lead held by the Senators before their rally.

YOUTH 6, GUILTY OF SLAYING PLAYMATE

take against the Mahan boy but a jury was impaneled today and he was brought to trial.
The boy defendant sat on his father's lap while the story of the shooting was related before the jury. The verdict was reached on the first ballot. Counsel for the defense said they would appeal the decision.

Instruction Given
Instructing the jury, said Carl should be acquitted if they determined he did not know what he was doing when he fired the gun at his playmate.

"If, on the other hand," the judge said, "He did know what he was doing, you must find him guilty."
Apparently unimpressed by the seriousness of the case, Carl smiled bashfully as attaches of the court spoke to him during the time his fate was being deliberated in the jury room.

The conviction, lawyers and court attaches said, is without precedent in this section of the country.

Tried To Hide
According to the evidence, the gun was fastened on the wall of the Mahan home, and Carl had to climb upon a chair to reach it. Cecil ran to hide behind a tree when he saw Carl with the gun but the charge struck him before he could get under cover.
No enmity had existed between Carl and Cecil nor among the parents of the two boys. Both the Mahan and Van Hoose parents were away at the time of the shooting.

A conference was held following Cecil's death and the parents decided to let the juvenile court settle the matter.

Unless the verdict is reversed, Carl will be confined in the reformatory until he reaches his majority, 15 years hence.

Coster Installs New Mould For Retreading Work

Ford, Rolls Royce and truck tires, they make no difference to A. C. Coster, of 2202 Macdonald avenue, who is known in Richmond as "Coster the Tire Man."

Coster recently installed in his tire shop, which is located at Twenty-second street and Macdonald avenue, one of the latest types of moulds for retreading tires.
The mould is said to be one of the newest and most complete tire retreading equipment that has been installed in any tire shop in the bay regions and adds materially to the equipment at the shop.

With the new mould installed, Coster is now preparing to take care of retreading the largest truck tires that are made. The new apparatus will take care of balloon or high pressure treads up to the largest size made.

The process of retreading tires was explained by Coster yesterday. The tire is first buffed down until the original rubber on the tread is taken off, leaving the canvas carcass clean and white. Then a series of covers of rubber cement is placed on the carcass, with each coat allowed to dry. The number of coats of cement varies with the size of the tire.

After the last coat of cement has dried a long strip of rubber is placed around the tire and firmly cemented and attached to the carcass.
The tire is then placed in the mould under terrific heat and pressure. Through the use of the mould the rubber for the tread is moulded.

The process takes about two days, Coster said yesterday. The work could be done quicker at the expense of the wearing qualities of the retread job, he declared.

As the result of time and patience spent on the work, the retreads are said to give as much mileage as a new tire.

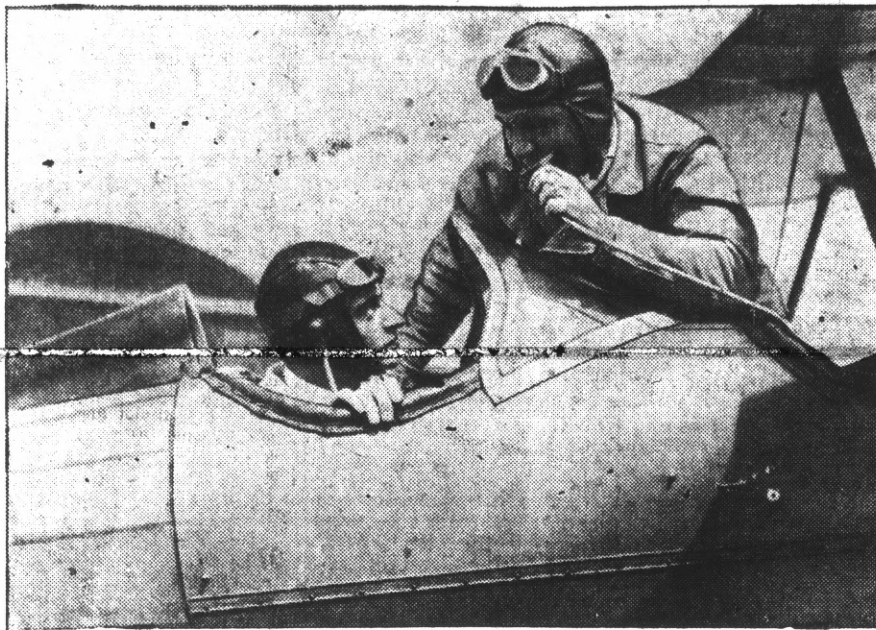

Woman Faces Drunk Charge

PINOLE, May 23.—Miss Bertha Chambers, 38, 1639 Tenth avenue, who was arrested here by Constable Arthur Macdonald after an exciting chase from Berkeley, faces arraignment in Berkeley on a charge of driving while drunk.
The woman was arrested on the complaint of A. L. Hinds, 1500 Albany Terrace, Albany, who followed her machine to Pinole after she had collided with his machine and that of Thomas Vallas, 1415 Stannage avenue, Berkeley, and had failed to stop, according to police reports.

Three other persons riding in the machine were arrested and a quantity of liquor was confiscated, police reported. Those arrested were Lillian Dover, 34, 3130 Dover street, Oakland; Ewing Dover, 31, of the same address and Harry Zeller, 29, of Martinez. Zeller faces a charge of possession of liquor.

DRAFTING OF INDUSTRY STUDIED

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(U.P.)—Bills giving the president wide powers to draft industry in time of war will be ready for submission to congress within 90 days, Secretary of War Good said today.

A bill to enable the president to conscript man-power for army service in time of emergency was introduced in congress earlier this month. It was severely criticized, even by administration congressmen, because there was no provision for similar conscription of industry.

As the United Press revealed Tuesday, the war department will not seek enactment of the manpower conscription bill until the industrial legislation is ready for simultaneous action. Justice demands this delay, in Good's opinion.

"It would be unjust," he said today, "to pass a law to draft man-power without provision for drafting the industrial group which will produce materials the soldiers will use."

Bernard M. Baruch and others associated with the Wilson administration in establishing national industry on a war time footing already have been consulted, Good said. Examination of the problem will continue in the expectation that the regular session of congress convening in December, Good said will be able to act on both projects. If greater time is required to prepare legislation to draft industry, the bill to conscript man power will be held up, he said.

The man power bill, as submitted to congress will become the pattern of industrial legislation, Good believes. The bill does not, as has been widely suggested abroad, empower the president arbitrarily to employ the tremendous authority provided by the bill. The terms of the proposed legislation expressly provide that it shall not be operative until after the congress has proclaimed existence of a national emergency. Upon such proclamation, which could be recommended to congress by the president, the executive would be empowered to draft men for the army and under the industrial legislation would be empowered to assume certain control over means of production.

Internal or external disorders might create a situation which congress would declare to be a national emergency.
Widespread interest in the proposed legislation has developed in Europe where introduction of the conscription bill apparently made a greater impression than in the United States.

Suggestions that it was linked some way with the United States' acceptance at Geneva of the European conscription theory were repudiated at the war department. The difference, it is explained, is this: European nations in General pursue conscription in times of peace to amass trained reservists. The proposed American conscription would be possible only in time of war. At Geneva, Ambassador Hugh S. Gibson, representing the United States, announced his government no longer would insist upon limitation of trained reserves or graduates of the conscription system.

Mrs. Rosenwald, Philanthropist Dies In Chicago

CHICAGO, May 23.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Julius Rosenwald, wife of the millionaire philanthropist and mail order house executive died at her home here today. She was 60 years old. Mrs. Rosenwald had undergone two operations, the first in December, 1927, and had been confined to her home for several months. Her condition had improved several weeks ago and it was believed she was on the road to complete recovery, when a relapse occurred a few days ago.

She had been active in philanthropic work and had aided her husband in his various charitable activities.

Her husband, chairman of the board of the Sears, Roebuck & company and a daughter, Mrs. Alfred Stern of Chicago, were at her bedside when she died.

Her two sons, Lessing and William, both of Philadelphia, and two daughters, Mrs. Edgar Stern of New Orleans and Mrs. David Levy of New York, were enroute to Chicago, when death came.
